TO DO: THAT IS TO CREATE EXISTENCE

With birth a singular and involuntary existance is created. Merely "to be" in itself may be called existance; but to be is not enough. Man must ascertain his worth and determine his potential value to society. As an individual, he must discover the essence of his existance. With this knowledge he can then blend his identity with society to fulfill and enlarge his being.

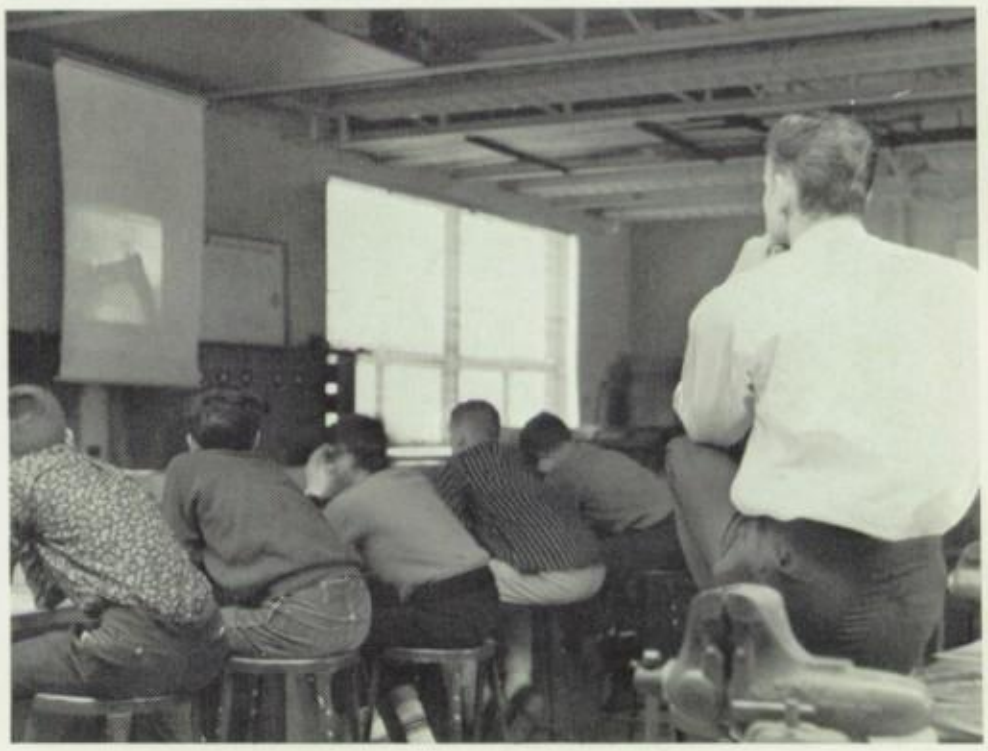
THE DEVELOP

MENT OF ACADEMICS LEADS ULTIMATELY TO WISDOM

Knowledge is the ability to develop and apply to the immediate situation; unless the individual is able to deal with the here and now, long-range growth is thwarted. Knowledge mellows into maturity, maturity into wisdom. Wisdom rests at the end of knowledge.

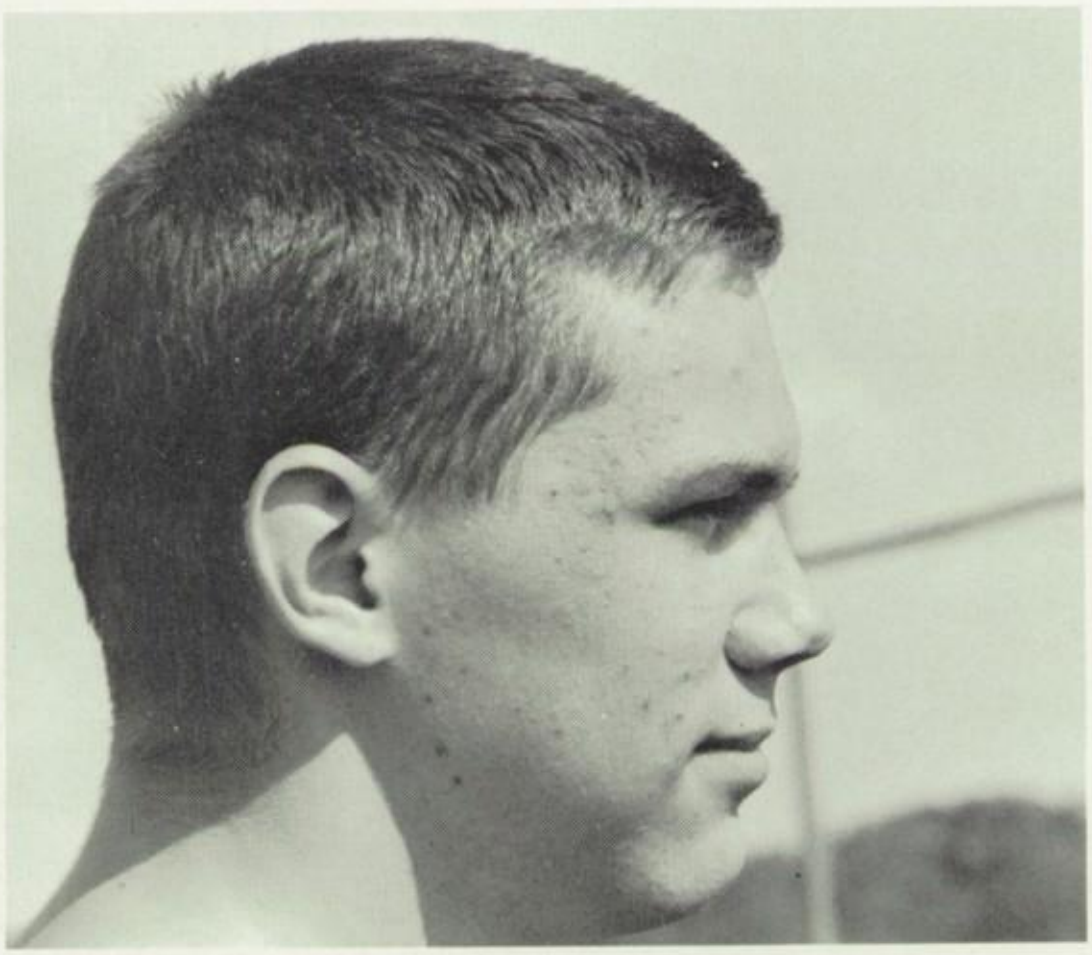


ACTIVITIES PERPETUATE A COMMON GOOD

The individual faces industry on two planes; as a spearate unit and as part of a group. He is involved in the invention of ideas and the enactment of these ideas into realities. When his collective action brings about activities initiated to bring about a common good, the balance of purpose between many and one is attainted.

SCHOOL PROVIDES EXPERIENCE INFLUENCES CHARACTER

The learning institution exists as an experience maker. It is a basis for decisive environmental choices as well as a foundation for intellectual and social associations. The institution is the immediate influence in directing the character for the future, for realizing the individual fully.



BY REALIZING SELF ONE JOINS ACTIVE COMMUNITY

With an assimilation of knowledge from the artificial small-scale society of school comes the realization of the self in a large, more complex community of values. As the individual matures, he acquires a realization of himself as a part of a larger community. Self knowledge aids one in relating to the world at large.

PROGRAM EXPANDS IN ENGLISH ARTS

Is there an academic field which does not duly make use of English as a means of communication? Facility with one's own language is a prerequisite to understanding, whether it is merely comprehension of a foreman's instructions to his workers or an analysis of difficult philosophical idea. The English Department emphasizes all aspects of communications--speaking, listening, writing, and reading. Four English teachers are new to the English Department; bringing new ideas and spirit to the instruction of English.

LANGUAGE STRESSES READING, SPEAKING

Miss Haughwout; Dr. Gutierrez

Since a language credit is required for most college-bound individuals, more students than ever before are taking language courses. Three years of Latin and three years of Spanish are offered with an emphasis on speaking as well as reading. This year we were rewarded with a new teacher in the Language Department; Dr. Armando Gutierrez, who brings his native tongue and culture to a most alert classroom.

HISTORY SEASONS NEW GENERATION

The history teachers encourage their students to new history as the record of living people in a changing world, and not just as a list of facts isolated from reality. New to the History staff this year are Miss Drysdale, Mrs. Leighty, and Mr. Roy.

Mr. Robert Greiner, Miss Barbara Drysdale, and Mr. Robert DeVito.

SCIENCE ESCALATES PROGRAM

The Science Department offers courses in biology, chemistry, physics, earth science, and the physical sciences. The students are given the opportunity to express themselves through experimentation and individual discovery. This year the science staff also includes Miss Yale who teaches a junior high science program.

MATH STRESSES APPLICATION OF IDEAS

Mr. Constantine, Mr. Black, Mr. Keefer, Mr. Seibert

The ideas put forth in the Mathematics Department help the student to understand Mathematics as a study of the structures of real and complex number systems, to recognize Mathematical techniques as reflections of this structure, to acquire facility in applying Mathematical concepts and skills, and comprehend the importance of function and concept.

GRUELING PRACTICE YIELDS A MUSICIAN

Showmanship, leadership, and quality are of equal importance to our music department. Their efforts are greatly appreciated by the student body and the community. Each year this department presents many fine concerts which are enjoyed by all who attend.

Mr. Kolb

FINE ARTS TEACHERS ENCOMPASS CLASSES

The term "fine arts" is used to include those subjects that the students may eventually pursue as an avocation. The classes are less general than those of other departments and cater specifically to the students interests.

COUNSELORS HELP SOLVE PROBLEMS, FORMULATE PLANS

The guidance counselors not only help students with any problems they may encounter during their high school years, but, by continually updating college and vocational materials maintain a store of information to help students who are faced with the formidable, and often upsetting task of selecting a suitable college.

SENIORS FACE THE HERE AND NOW

Seniors are ready to fully realize the extent of their existence. Throughout the years students develop toward a full idealism. Seniors are finally ready to meet the here and now of life by practically applying the knowledge of their idealism to life outside the society of the school. As the senior is able to realize the present, he can adapt his abilities to the attainment of his distant and final goals.

UNDERCLASSMEN INDICATE CHOICE

The school community is a challenge to the underclassman. His reactions to the environment mold his character for the future. This is a time when he must choose between different aspects of his environment - the decisions he makes indicate his interests and desires. Choosing his own friends, curriculum, and activities challenges existence, and gives his the option to develop himself and reach his aspired goals.

TO DO; THAT IS TO CREAT

Activity involves more than merely doing. The pe must approach industry both as an individual and as a of a collective unit. The goal of the doer is to contri to the birth of a new entity. By doing so, he more expands and extends his own being within the framew of his own experience. The product of this pers experience is a new and common good. To do someth that is to create existence.

The American Field Service Club is in its fourth year of sponsoring the Foreign Exchange program. Most of its efforts are directed toward raising money to help bring students to B.B.C.S. from abroad, and to send students to foreign countries from Byron-Bergen. The members of the student and adult chapters of the AFS Club conduct a pizza sale during the school year to finance the program.

With this money from the project and with the support of private contributions we have been able to sponsor Siegfried this year. We at Byron-Bergen have enjoyed his stay and his company as we hope he has enjoyed ours.

From chaos has evolved a marked impression of Byron-Bergen Central School and the entities within its educative framework; individuals who molded the stamp of 1967 to match no other. It is time to give credit to those who, it seems existed solely to assemble the record of this year: to Bonnie Hewett for being absolutely dependable, and to Sandra Longbine, Mary Thurley, Karen Loeson, and Pat Torcello for the mountains of copy they faithfully prepared; and finally one cannot forget the insuperable wisdom of Mr. Petote who helped prepare the yearbook in the face of all odds.

Footwork and sweat and drills and more footwork . . . the JV team spends its season grooming for the next. Every member of the team worked diligently to maintain and improve their scoring ability.

Team standing and individual standing are the criterion for future challenges to opponents on a varsity level. Every team member looks forward to action on the court, for experience against the opponent is in itself an excellent leader. Team co-ordination, manual dexterity, alertness, and discipline are painfully acquired by each ball player in an attempt to better himself. The end result, the hope of the JV player, is a place on the varsity squad.

MANKIND CREATES FULFILLS EXISTENCE

To do; that is to exist. As long as man continues to exist, the creative activities which are essential to a mature and satisfying existence will go on. The faces of men reflect the infinitesimal challenges that confront human beings, at times on an individual plane, at times in a social milieu. But always man must impress his mark as an existing entity upon the cosmos. The educative forces which promote these impressions are important - and unending. It is appropriate, therefore, that the final pages represent not an end but a continuum.
